

An applicant may request that the Tribunal order an interim remedy at the time of filing an application, or at any other time in a proceeding, by completing this Request for Interim Remedy (Form 16). If the Request is made at the same time the application is filed with the Tribunal, it need not be delivered to the other parties. If it is made at a later stage, it must be delivered to the other parties and filed with the Tribunal.

Before completing this Form, please see the Tribunal's Practice Direction on Requests to Expedite an Application and Requests for an Interim Remedy for important information.

If you are requesting an interim remedy at the time of filing your Application, follow these steps to make your Request:

1. Fill out this Form 16.
2. Obtain the necessary declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all of the facts upon which you rely in support of your request. Include any documents that support the request.
3. File the application (Form 1) and this Form 16 with the attached declarations with the Tribunal.

If you are requesting an interim remedy at a later stage of the proceeding before the Tribunal (i.e. after you have received confirmation that your Application has been delivered to the respondent(s)), follow these steps to make your Request:

1. Fill out the Form 16.
2. Obtain the necessary declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all of the facts upon which you rely in support of your request. Include any documents that support the request.
3. Deliver a copy of the Form 16 with the attached declarations to the respondent and to any affected persons (e.g. a trade union or occupational or professional organization) identified in the application.
4. Complete a Statement of Delivery (Form 23).
5. File the Form 16 and Form 23 with the Tribunal.

This Request for Interim Remedy must include one or more declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all the facts that this Request relies on.

Information for all parties and any person or organization who receives a copy of this Request for Interim Remedy:

You may respond to this Request for Interim Remedy by completing a Response to a Request for Interim Remedy (Form 17).

Follow these steps to respond:

1. Fill out Form 17.
2. Obtain the necessary declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all of the facts upon which you rely in support of your response. Include any documents that support the response.
3. Deliver a copy of Form 17 to the applicant and all other parties and affected persons (e.g. a trade union or occupational or professional organization) identified in the application.
4. Complete a Statement of Delivery (Form 23).
5. File the completed Form 17 and Form 23 with the Tribunal.

You must file your Response to a Request for Interim Remedy, if any, not later than seven (7) days after this Request for Interim Remedy was delivered to you. Your Response must include one or more declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all the facts that the Response relies on.

2. Please provide a detailed description of the interim remedy sought.

A public interest interim remedy Leah is requesting is that she's retained to re-write MANY policies for the entire social services and housing services sector, not just for Ontario, but for all of Canada. And because she's never written policies before, nor has she been trained to, she requests that the respondents pay for her fee as well as the fee of an experienced policy-writer to work with Leah, full-time, to write the new policies. Leah knows exactly what the policies need to be; she just needs help structuring the policies and making sure they include everything they need to, to be valid.

3. What facts support your need for an Interim Remedy?

Leah's been desperately trying to get a job since Jan/24. On Aug. 2/24, Leah used her monthly ODSP income to pay some bills. Now, Leah has $45 to last her until Aug. 20th. LEAH CANNOT LIVE LIKE THIS ANYMORE! Leah will attach parts of her United Way grant that indicate Leah's job role and responsibilities. Leah will attach the presentation she presented to Alex Nuttall in his Office in Feb/24. Leah will attach screenshots of emails between herself and three high-level execs at the AAFC. Leah will also include another attachment of the parts of the PSI Foundation grant she wrote, for funds to pay her a salary to be a Project Manager for a research study.

Rule 23.3 b) requires that your request for an interim remedy include one or more declarations signed by persons with direct first-hand knowledge detailing all of the facts on which you are relying. Have you attached the declaration(s)? For more information about declarations, please see the Practice Direction on Requests to Expedite an Application and Requests for an Interim Remedy.

Yes

4. What arguments support your claim that the Application has merit?

Leah has been trying to get employed since Jan/24. In Aug/23, Leah applied for a United Way grant to pay for her salary to operate a research study. In Feb/24, Leah presented to Alex Nuttall in his Office and asked to be hired as The Food Policy Director to run a Food Systems Planning Office. In Apr/24, Leah asked the the AAFC for a job. Leah's also been working (non-paid) with Dr. Orava at the BFMTU on a PSI Foundation grant, for a salary for Leah to be a Project Manager for a research study.

5. What harm would result if this Interim Remedy is denied and why does the balance of harm or convenience favour granting your request?

The respondents are responsible for Leah's inability to get employed and this is causing Leah to starve, not pay her bills, and experience excruciating mental health pain. Rob Cikoja, the CEO of Habitat for Humanity, told Leah, in-person, that the reason her charity would never get funded or supported is because Leah pissed-off The County with her social media posts (the ones the respondents hired their lawyer to threaten to sue Leah for defamation, even though Leah was publishing only pure truth).

6. Why do you believe it would be just and appropriate for the Tribunal to grant your request for an Interim Remedy in the circumstances?

This is the only public interest remedy that could ever possibly even begin to make right the crimes against humanity inflicted on an entire class of people, by the respondents, for decades. The most important thing, though, is changing legislation, and making sure that disadvantaged and vulnerable Canadians, especially women, aren't ever put in a position to be abused by government employees who get-off on annihilating their dignity, for any length of time, let alone decades on end, again!
